Master of Science in Nursing (MSN)

Now more than ever, your excellence and dedication is needed to inspire the next generation of nurses— and the Curry College School of Nursing and Health Sciences is here to help you lead. Our unique Hyflex course format allows you to earn your MSN on your schedule and be a part of our tradition of excellence in nursing education recognized for nearly 50 years.

Become a Nurse Administrator or Nurse Educator

- Choose from our two career concentrations
- Follow a schedule that lets you work while you learn – Full-time and Part-time offered
- Complete a Capstone project alongside accomplished faculty
- Benefit from classroom instruction and an education or administration practicum

Ensuring Your Success

From an on-campus and online writing center and library support to veteran residency requirements, Curry has the resources to get you closer to your goal.

Hyflex, High-Touch, High-Quality

Curry now offers a Hyflex course format. This new modality allows you to attend synchronous classes in-person or online,* giving you the freedom to form valuable connections no matter where you are.

 Attending at least one class in person is required*

MSN Curriculum

A schedule that fits your needs:

- 8-week Hyflex schedule, taking one course at a time, meeting one day a week from 5:30-8:30 p.m.
- 3-year model with summers off (Late-August start), 2-year model (Mid-May or Mid-January start)

The 35-credit program is comprised of the following courses:

MSN 6600:	Informatics and Health Information Management
MSN 6XXX:	Advanced Care and Clinical Reasoning: Integrating Concepts of Health Assessment, Pathophysiology, and Pharmacology
